The meeting movement is a new way of working, one that's centered on well-being, social interaction, and distributed creativity.

Distributed creativity

In the new way of working, the distributed workforce demands distributed creativity. That means inspired meetings and brainstorming. For that next brilliant idea to come forward, everyone needs to be on the same page. We need consistency, where everyone feels completely connected.

Wherever you are

That means everyone needs to feel like they are continuously in tune and within easy reach, whether they are at home, in the company's open spaces or physical meeting rooms. When people flourish, organizations thrive, benefitting from teams that feel connected to one another.
